PM Modi unveils Boeing global engg, tech centre

The campus, spread across 43 acres, is built with an investment of ₹1,600 cr

PEERZADA ABRAR
Bengaluru, 19 January

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday inaugurated US aerospace giant Boeing's global engineering and technology campus in Bengaluru.

The new state-of-the-art Boeing India Engineering & Technology Center (BIETC) has been built with an investment of ₹1,600 crore and is spread across 43 acres.

The campus is Boeing's largest such investment outside the US. It will become a cornerstone for partnering with India on next-generation products and services for the global aerospace and defence industry. Modi said Bengaluru is a city which links aspirations to innovations and achievements, and India's tech potential to global demands. "Boeing's new technology campus is going to strengthen this belief," said Modi. He underlined that its scale and magnitude will not only strengthen India but also the aviation market of the world. Modi said this facility demonstrates India's commitment to driving global tech, research and innovation, design and demand.

"This strengthens the 'Make in India-Make for the World' resolution," he said. "This campus reinforces the world's trust in India's talent," he added. He expressed the faith that one day, "India will design aircraft of the future" at this facility.

Over the years, Boeing India has grown its team in the engineering and research and development (R&D) unit. It now has the largest number of employees in any country outside the US. It has more than 6,000 employees as of December 2023.

"We are honoured and privileged to support Prime Minister Modi's transformative vision for India, and we are grateful to have him dedicate the Boeing campus to foster aerospace innovation in the country," said David L. Calhoun, Boeing president and chief executive officer (CEO).

The prime minister was joined by Karnataka Governor Thaawar Chand Gehlot, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, and Boeing chief operating officer Stephanie Pope, among others.

Modi also launched the Boeing Sukanya Program, which aims to support the entry of more women from across India into the country's growing aviation sector.

The programme will provide opportunities to girls and women from across India to learn critical skills in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) in the aviation sector.

For young girls, the programme will create labs at 150 planned locations to help spark interest in STEM careers.

The programme will also provide scholarships to women who are training to be pilots.

Make in India a win-win situation for investors: PM

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday stressed the need to build an aircraft manufacturing ecosystem in India as he highlighted the potential of India's strong network of MSMEs (micro, small and medium enterprises), huge talent pool, and stable government in India. "India's policy approach to encourage 'Make in India' is a win-win situation for every investor," said Modi, after inaugurating US aerospace giant Boeing's global engineering and technology centre campus in Bengaluru. Modi also talked about the government's focus on investment in connectivity infrastructure to overcome the previous handicap of poor connectivity that was preventing India's potential in performance.

No delay in deliveries to India, says Boeing

REUTERS
Hyderabad, 19 January

Boeing expects no meaningful delays of plane deliveries to India because of the MAX 9 issues even as it intensifies quality scrutiny of its 737 jets production programme, a top company executive said on Friday.

An incident where a cabin panel on a 737 MAX 9 jet blew out shortly after an Alaska Airlines plane took off has shaken global airlines' confidence in Boeing's planes nearly five years after a pair of crashes killed 346 people.

"Our long term objective is adding even more scrutiny to the quality side of things," Darren Hulst, Boeing's vice president for commercial marketing said at the Wings India air show in Hyderabad.

Hulst said Boeing does not see any meaningful delays in deliveries as of now.

Boeing earlier this week named Kirkland Donald to advise the planemaker's CEO on improving quality control after the incident.

The planemaker will also focus on the quality of aircraft over numbers in India, Hulst said at the event which has attracted planemakers, airlines and government officials as they make the most of India's travel boom, with a greater focus on international routes.

In a show of confidence, India's newest airline Akasa Air placed an order for 150 Boeing 737 MAX narrowbody planes on Thursday, taking the total to over 200 deliveries over the next eight years.

Indian commercial airlines have not ordered the MAX 9 variant of the Boeing 737.

Air India's huge order last year for 470 planes included 220 Boeing aircraft.

The planemaker was holding discussions with "every single customer" that operates the 737, Hulst said.
